Have a conversation about the articles you read for homework in groups of four.

Here are some questions to guide your conversation:

- What is the aim of the research?
- Why is this important?
- What is the most fundamental mathematical concept used?
- Did you understand the methodology?
- What is the most important result discussed in the article?
- What are the conclusions of the study (next steps/implications)
- Was the article clearly written? How was the flow of arguments?
- How would you improve the article?
